By stimulating a child's senses, you are helping them develop creatively, socially, emotionally, cognitively, linguistically and physically through simple play. Your child uses their senses to explore the world around them.

In this colourful collection of familiar New Zealand images, young readers are introduced to adjectives that describe the taste, smell, sight, sound and touch of the scenes of summer.

Each double spread is in English and te reo Māori and the final pages collect all the words into a summer poem, told in both languages.

MRS BATTLESHIP

Tim Tipene

9780995106796 | $22.00 | 76PP | PB | TN | 7+ | BIOGRAPHY

These 7 stories are taken from the author's primary school years. They are sometimes humorous, but also illuminating. They document some memories and the fear he lived with – for example, how it was a lightbulb moment when he realised not all children were hit as he was.

There are some teachers he encountered along the way who changed his life. Mrs Battleship is a tribute to the few people, especially teachers, who acted at different times to protect him and champion him.

His stories are funny, sad, poignant and telling. Tim has found jewels of wisdom and love in a world that had no place for him.

A memoir from award-winning writer and inspirational speaker Tim Tipene.

Tim founded the Warrior Kids programme 22 years ago. Himself the product of rape, he spent a miserable childhood in which he was abused by both his birth and foster families.

His courses now empower families and children and this memoir is a recollection of his life, raised in violence, following on from a junior collection, Mrs Battleship.

It is a tribute especially to the few teachers who acted at different times to protect him, as well as his discovery that not everyone endured what he did. This is funny, sad, poignant and telling. Tim has found jewels of wisdom and love in a world that had no place for him.

For two decades Tim has been sharing his inspirational story of overcoming a violent and abusive childhood and breaking the cycle with audiences both young and old.

He has spoken in schools for Duffy Books in Homes, Storylines, the NZ Book Council and Getting Kids into Books. He has been a speaker at the Auckland Writers Festival and was a part of the Sir Peter Blake Dream Team of Leaders.

For 27 years he has been changing lives through his acclaimed Warrior Kids program, his award winning books and his inspirational talks.

In 2014 he was recognised as a Kiwibank New Zealander of the year Local Hero and received a Medal in recognition of his contribution to the lives of others.

Tim has also been an advocate for adults with special needs, a self-defence instructor for women and a facilitator of Anger Management and Living Without Violence programs for men.

Tim has featured on television, radio and in various magazines and newspapers.

EUGENE'S ISLAND

Eugene's Island is an early junior fiction series where readers can experience with Eugene the problems, pitfalls and potential that lie in island life. As illustrated chapter books, Eugene's Island appeals to independent readers (5 - 7 years old) as they begin to read chapter books, while still suitable for reading aloud to younger children and for classroom use. Similar in size and market to series such as Billy B Brown, Hey Jack!, and Ella and Olivia, Eugene's Island is unique in offering a New Zealand setting and a gentle introduction to environmental concerns – all within simple, enjoyable tales.

Coming in 2022: The Pet Problem, and The Art Project.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Elizabeth (Libby) Kirkby-McLeod is a New Zealand author whose poetry and writing have appeared in a range of New Zealand journals, online publications, and in the public art installation, In Our Words in downtown Auckland. She has a children's book World Folk Tales, published in 2021 with Gilt Edge Publishing, edited the short story collection, Lit: stories from home, published by OneTree House in 2021, and her first poetry collection Family Instructions Upon Release was published in November 2019 with The Cuba Press. It's first print-run quickly sold out and the collection has been praised by reviewers in The New Zealand Herald and Radio New Zealand National. Elizabeth is an active member of the NZSA and produces the NZSA Oral History Podcast series.
